

2012 Winter Workshops

Workshops are held Tuesdays from 7:00 pm—9:00 pm at 6208 Quinpool Road, 2nd Floor, Halifax (unless noted as a workshop + tour)

“Round the Circle” Big Science for Little Hands Program

Science World in BC has developed a series of resources for early childhood educators. The goal of the resources is to share activities that are designed for experiential learning around particular science concepts. Join Debbie for a hands-on exploration of the activities that are contained in the “Round the Circle” package. Together you’ll test the activities out and think about how they might be used in your classrooms. $40.00 includes materials & booklet.

Debbie Thompson is an MSVU Child Studies graduate. She is currently working as an EIBI Program Implementer for the IWK. Debbie has offered a number of upbeat and energetic workshops for NSCECE over the past two years.

Sign Language in Early Childhood Classrooms (REPEAT SESSION)

There are many benefits to Sign Language. It teaches you another language, it encourages interpersonal skills, increases vocabulary and stimulates both sides of your brain. Sign Language is a multi-sensory way to bridge communication gaps in your classroom. Come learn basic preschool signs and practice using signs with songs. You will leave with a booklet of handouts to help you start your own collection of signing materials. A must have workshop!

Laura Coish is an Early Childhood Education graduate with a B.A. in psychology. She worked as a preschool teacher for 14 years and is currently employed with the Progress Centre for Early Intervention. Laura has her Level 2 Sign Language.

Ramps and Pathways (REPEAT SESSION)

We’ve all seen children send cars and other objects caroming down slides, ramps, and inclines. In this workshop participants will explore the value and meaning of this type of play. Using a variety of hands-on materials participants will reconnect to their inner scientist and discover the powerful learning opportunities of a constructivist approach to early learning. The workshop draws from the book Ramps & Pathways by Rheta DeVries & Christina Sales.

Shari Ridgewell, M.Ed., BAA ECE, has worked for over 28 years in the field of early childhood. She enjoys facilitating PD opportunities for child care staff on many different topics that support a play based, child centered approach to learning.

Conflict Resolution with Young Children

Everybody has to learn to deal with conflict. Early Childhood Educators see young children struggling with conflicts daily; there is not enough stuff; not enough space; not enough attention; and social skills are immature. We can help! Through role modeling and teaching the steps of a problem solving process we can help children develop the skills they need to solve conflicts in a positive way. Come discover six simple steps to a more peaceful classroom.

Lisa Davies has been working with children and families in not-for-profit agencies and government for over 20 years. Lisa teaches part-time at NSCECE and is also the Director of the Dartmouth Child Development Centre.

Welcoming and Supporting Newcomer Children and Families

Every child who comes to your centre has a unique life story and individual needs but young newcomer children and their families have additional needs as they settle into Canadian communities. In this workshop we’ll look at who is coming to Nova Scotia and where they are coming from. We will identify day-to-day practices that we can use to support the cultural identity of children enrolled in our programs and we will look specifically at implications for social and language development. Join us for activities, discussion and resource sharing.

Carrie Melsom is currently the Coordinator of the NSCECE Early Childhood Educator Resource Centre. Her career in early childhood education started in 1986. She has an ECE Diploma and a Certificate in Adult Education.

It’s Time For A Plan

Answering the question, “Where do you want to be in five years?”, is just a small part of a career development plan. Reflecting on your current skills, knowledge and short-term professional goals helps a you determine where to begin the process. This workshop provides you with a career planning template and uses the Occupational Standards for ECEs/Administrators as a framework for considering the competencies needed to develop a Career Plan.

Denise Stone has a BCS and M.Ed., and over 25 years experience in ECE. She has worked in various positions during her career. She teaches adults part-time at NSCECE; she licensed centres and has done policy/program development for government where she continues to work as part of the ECE sector.

Thinking Deeply With Children

We will look at small group time – the why, who, how, what and when of doing them. We will play with and discuss the role of loose parts in small group times and examine how adult support can enhance the children’s abilities to think critically and more deeply. Come ready to share your ideas, and best of all a small bag of loose parts, e.g. bread tags, buttons, small rocks, shells, stir sticks, wire, pipe cleaners, colourful yarn, etc.

Elizabeth Hicks has been working in child care for 25 years. She currently works as an independent consultant with Beacon of Quality and supports early childhood practitioners in thinking about their programs and their goals for children.

Pets in the Classroom

Join us for a workshop dedicated to showing Early Childhood Educators how pets and living creatures benefit our classrooms. Children identify with pets on a unique level. Living creatures help children of all ages learn about the natural world and how they can be part of caring for it. Come and learn how pets can promote empathy in your classrooms. We’ll also discuss licensing implications, possibilities for your science curriculum and the soothing effect pets can have on your classroom environment.

Jennifer Solomon is a school-age teacher at Needham Preschool and Daycare. She graduated in 1999 from the ECE program at Algonquin College. She has enjoyed offering workshops in Halifax for the past few years.

Writing Learning Stories

There are particular guidelines that have been established for writing learning stories. These guidelines offer a structure that supports this form of documentation and helps us with the process of telling a “good” story. In this workshop you will discover these learning story conventions and have an opportunity to write your own stories based on video footage that we will watch together. Learning stories can be powerful addition to documentation in your classroom and the format provided makes them a straight forward method to learn.

Parachute Play and Outdoor Games for Students and Teachers!

We will briefly examine the daily physical activity requirements for children in our care. As well we will examine the reasons we are seeing so much in the media about children needing 60 minutes of physical activity each day. Half of the evening will be spent engaged in play outdoors so please come dressed appropriately. Everyone will leave with a resource booklet of my favourite parachute & outdoor games. (REPEAT SESSION)

Paula Richard is the Director of Christopher Allan’s Preschool. She has a degree in physical education and has worked with young children for many years. Paula currently teaches a Movement and Wellbeing course to students at NSCECE.
